SILENT FILMS & EVENTS

Friday 27th September - 7.00pm to 10.30pm

Emerge Festival – London Late

Silent Films and Highlights of Collection Tours

From DJs and bands to poetry slams and open mic jams, Emerge is a new festival which brings together some of London's most electrifying talent across 50 of the capital's iconic museums and galleries. Join us for a night of Gothic film where, from beneath the stage, the haunting tones of the Mighty Wurlitzer organ will rise again as they did almost one hundred years ago. Donald MacKenzie, talented organist and silent film maestro will provide the spine-chilling accompaniment to a quartet of Silent Horror Films - presenting extracts from Nosferatu, The Phantom of the Opera, Dr Jekyll & Mr Hyde and The Cabinet of Dr Caligari.

A fully licenced cash bar selling horror-themed cocktails, bottled beers and wine, snacks and sandwiches is also available. More information at: www.emergefestival.co.uk

Tickets: at https://dice.fm/festival/emerge

Sunday 17th November - 3.00 pm

Donald MacKenzie

The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari

At a carnival in Germany, Francis (Friedrich Feher) and his friend Alan (Rudolf Lettinger) encounter the crazed Dr. Caligari (Werner Krauss), showing off his somnambulist which leads to a shocking outcome...

Considered by many to be the epitome of German Expressionism on film, we are celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the film (a few months early) which was classed as the first 'horror picture'. Donald MacKenzie will be presenting the film from the Museum's Mighty Wurlitzer with a specially improvised score.

Tickets: £15.00

Thursday 28th November - 2.30pm and 7.00pm

Steampipes

A unique event which supports the historic Festiniog, Talyllyn and Welshpool & Llanfair narrow gauge railways of Wales. Rare and classic archive films from the golden age of steam railways are introduced by compere Rob Foxon, with Len Rawle on the Mighty Wurlitzer accompanying the silent films. Enjoy newly discovered footage being screened for the first time; features include railways on the Isle of Wight in the 1930's, a day in the life of an engine driver (Nine Elms locomotive depot) in 1949, Welsh narrow-gauge railways and much more. Screened as the original film makers intended us to see them; using real film projected on the big screen!

Ticket prices from £13.00. See the museum's website or call the box office for booking details

The Annual Christmas Extravaganza

Chris Barber, Chairman

Join the Musical Museum's Director of Music and resident organist Chris Barber, together with special guests Eleanor Rastall, Louise Eekelaar, Charlotte Brosnan and Charles McDougal for this popular, fun, family friendly celebration of Christmas music. Backed by specially created lighting and visual effects, Chris and the cast will take you on a unique and magical journey; this year's theme is "A Neapolitan Christmas" so expect great Italian melodies, as well as seasonal favourites.

Tickets: £17.50 - our concert last year sold out, so please book early.

The Museum also offers our Christmas Concert as a popular group package on key dates throughout November and December at 2.30pm. The concerts include a seasonal afternoon tea and are ideally suited to coach tours. For more information, contact events@musicalmuseum.co.uk

CLASSIC FILMS

FILMS ARE PRECEDED BY A PRELUDE ON THE MIGHTY WURLITZER ORGAN

Tickets: £7.50/£6.00 concessions

Sunday 15th September - 3.00pm

Lullaby of Broadway (1951)

Dir. David Butler (U) 92 mins

"A resplendent Day hits Broadway!" Doris Day is at her effervescent best in this musical comedy about a showgirl returning to her New York home and catching the eye of a Broadway producer, played by the energetic Gene Nelson. This movie clicks along in high gear from one show-stopper to the next.

Sunday 29th September - 3.00pm

Calamity Jane (1953)

Dir. David Butler (U) 101 mins

Originally billed as the "sky highest, smile widest, wild and woolliest Western of 'em all!" this is the best known of Doris Day's musical movies. Alongside co-star Howard Keel as Wild Bill Hickok, it's all about Calamity Jane, her saloon, and her romance. With every song a classic, it's time to whip-crack-away!

Sunday 20th October - 3.00pm

Young at Heart (1954)

Dir. Gordon Douglas (U) 111 mins

This musical remake of Four Daughters stars Doris Day as a well-bred New England woman who marries a chip-on-his-shoulder musician (Frank Sinatra). Both Day and Sinatra really shine, and the songs include the Johnny Richards-Caroline Leigh title tune, which became part of Sinatra's standard repertoire.

Sunday 27th October - 3.00pm

My Dream is Yours (1949)

Dir. Michael Curtiz (U) 101 mins

Talent agent Doug Blake (Jack Carson) abandons his arrogant singing star and scrambles to recruit another who will shine even brighter. He discovers the captivating songstress Martha Gibson (Doris Day). Think she has a chance? Lookout for a cameo from Bugs Bunny who hops into a dream sequence!
